THE DEFINITIVE MIDTOWN DINING GUIDE

While Midtown may simultaneously be some of the most dread-inducing and unavoidable square footage of Manhattan, the area happens to be home to some of the city's most destination-worthy restaurants -- from Korean BBQ to old-school steakhouses to some of the city's best ramen. Even if you don't have to be in Midtown to wait in line for Hamilton tickets or meet your weekend guests at Port Authority, these restaurants are guaranteed to get you there.

BEST FOR A GOURMET INDIAN FEAST: INDIAN ACCENT

123 W 56th Street

An import from New Delhi, this upscale restaurant by chef Manish Mehrotra serves traditional Indian dishes with a contemporary twist. Tasting menus range from $75 for three courses plus a side to $120 for the chef's full experience. Expect to taste a range of spicy, sweet, sour, and savory flavors, found in dishes like the beef kabob with marrow and soft-shell crab koliwada with dried shrimp.
