

art deco & the jazz age

A visual style of architecture, design and fashion that emerged in 1920s France, art deco was a movement that developed into a major style in western Europe and the United States during the 1930s. The movement began in India from Bombay, which has over 200 art deco structures, second only to Miami.

This period between the 1920s to 1930s is also referred to as ‘the jazz age’, when swinging rhythms became the dominant sound of the new generation. F. Scott Fitzgerald described the jazz age as a period when “the parties were bigger, the pace faster, the buildings higher, and the morals looser.”

Inspired by the city’s art deco heritage, Indian Accent, Mumbai pays a small tribute to the design, music, and cocktails of that era.
